TRAVEL CODE COOKIE POLICY

Travel Code, Inc., 77 SE 5th Street, Suite 2805, Miami, Florida 33131, United States

1. WHAT THIS POLICY COVERS

This policy explains the cookies and similar technologies we use on travel-code.com and in our web application, why we use them, and how you can control them.

It sits alongside our Privacy Policy, which explains how we handle personal information more generally.

2. WHAT COOKIES ARE

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. Similar technologies — pixels, tags, local storage, and software development kits — do comparable things. We use "cookies" in this policy to refer to all of them.

Session cookies are deleted when you close your browser. Persistent cookies remain for a set period.

First-party cookies are set by us. Third-party cookies are set by providers we work with, such as analytics and advertising partners.

3. YOUR CHOICES

When you first visit our site we show a consent banner offering Accept all, Reject all, and Manage individual preferences. Rejecting is as easy as accepting.

Only strictly necessary cookies are set before you make a choice. Analytics, functional, and advertising cookies are set only if you allow them.

You can change your choice at any time through the cookie preferences link in the site footer.

Global Privacy Control. Where your browser or extension sends a Global Privacy Control signal, we treat it as an opt-out of the sale or sharing of personal information for the browser that sends it.

California residents may also use the "Do Not Sell or Share My Personal Information" link in the footer. See our Privacy Policy for the full set of rights.

4. CATEGORIES WE USE

Strictly necessary. Required for the site and application to work — signing in, keeping your session active, load balancing, security, fraud prevention, and remembering your cookie choice. These cannot be switched off and are set without consent because the service cannot be delivered without them.

Functional. Remember your preferences, such as language, region, time zone, and interface settings.

Analytics. Help us understand how the site is used — which pages are visited, how people navigate, where errors occur — so we can improve it. Used in aggregate.

Advertising. Used to measure the effectiveness of our marketing and to show our ads on other platforms. These may track activity across sites over time and may build a profile of interests.

Under California law, and some other state laws, use of advertising cookies may be considered "sharing" of personal information for cross-context behavioural advertising. You can opt out as described in §3.

6. THIRD-PARTY CONTENT

Some pages embed content hosted by third parties, such as videos or maps. Those providers may set their own cookies when you interact with that content, governed by their own policies.

7. BROWSER CONTROLS

Our consent banner is the appropriate place to manage cookies for our site. You can also control cookies in your browser settings:

- Google Chrome
- Apple Safari
- Mozilla Firefox
- Microsoft Edge

Blocking strictly necessary cookies will prevent parts of the site and application from working.

8. CHANGES

We update this policy when our use of cookies changes. The effective date at the top shows when it was last revised.
